Simon Dreisbach Sr. Headstone at Zion Stone Church

Maria Catherine Keller headstone at Zion Stone Church

Simon Dreisbach Sr. lived in Oberndorf, West Germany in the district of Wittgenstein. Wittgenstein was a feudal district in the middle of the 18th century and the name does not appear on German maps today. The main town in this area is Bad Laasphe. Oberndorf is a few miles distant as is Feudingingen where an Evangelical (Lutheran) Church still stands. This was the church where the Simon Dreisbach family attended and where the records still show the baptismal dates of the children.

We know that Simon and his family spent four full months traveling from Wittgenstein to Philadelphia, and we can only surmise their expectancy as the "Lydia" made her way up through the Delaware Bay in mid September of 1743. The ship's manifest contains two unexplained age figures. Simon appears with his correct age, 45, but sons Jost and Adam are recorded as being 19 and 20 respectively, though we know from the Feudingingen church records that Jost recently turned 22 and Adam was approaching 21. Simon must have had some good reason for registering his sons under 21.

We have no information on how Simon financed his family's passage, nor on their first years in Pennsylvania. However, in June of 1747, only three years and nine months after their arrival, eldest son Jost was already applying for the obligatory survey of 25 acres of land in what is now Northampton County. Six months later, his brother Adam filed for a survey of 25 acres along Indian Creek. In 1749 John (Johannes), a younger brother, also applied for a survey of 25 acres. In May 1749 and March 1750 father Simon applied for a total of 75 acres to be surveyed. Thus began the Dreisbach settlements in upper Northampton County. Their land was originally purchased, says a family tradition, from the Indians. The Dreisbach settlements lay a few miles from Blue Mountain and the Lehigh Gap, which was the gateway to the still largely unsettled regions north of the mountain. Jost soon built a gristmill along Indian Creek. A small German-language Reformed congregation came into being, meeting in Jost Dreisbach's. However, ministers could rarely be induced to come this far to preach, to marry and to baptize.

In 1768 Simon's wife, Maria Katharina, died and was buried in the cemetery above her son Jost's house. Simon outlived her by almost seventeen years. Simon Dreisbach lived through the Revolutionary War, but was too old to take an active part. By the time he died in 1785, the church at Jost's had been abandoned and a new church had been built a few miles to the south.

Here, in the cemetery of recently constructed Zion Stone Church, Simon Sr. was buried. The old cemetery at Jost's was later put under cultivation, and the remaining headstones were propped against the fence along the field. In the 1920's Maria Katharina Dreisbach's grave-marker and a few other surviving stones were moved to the Zion Stone Church cemetery, where they were inserted into a white commemorative monument.

Jost Dreisbach 1721-1794

Yost Dreisbach headstone at Zion Stone Church

Jost (Yost) Dreisbach, born in Oberndorf, Wittgenstein on 18 September 1721, lived to be 73, dying on 17 October 1794. Jost Dreisbach was probably married twice, although no record of his first marriage in the U.S. has been found to date. Jost's second marriage was to Elizabeth Rachenberger- Rachenbager- Rauschenberg. Their first child, Appolonia, was born as early as January 1750. He was a miller in northern Northampton County, and tradition has it that he was also an Indian-fighter. He was one of the first commissioners of Northampton Co., and in 1756, the period of the Indian uprising, gave his excuse for non-attendance at court, "I must grind wheat for the forts." In 1774, he was a member of the "Committee of Observation" for Northampton Co.; in 1775, captain of the Lehigh Company of Associators, and in October of the same year was appointed Colonel. On March 10, 1776, he was appointed 2nd Lieutenant in Mile's Rifle Regiment and was captured, August 27, 1776, but on February 22, 1777, he enlisted again in Baron Von Otterndorf's Light Infantry. He continued to serve the cause of Freedom until 1780. In Jost is said to have been a temporary quartermaster at Valley Forge, assigned to procure blankets for the troops. He is believed to have had some twelve children, not including those born to the female Mohawk "slaves" mentioned in his will. Many of his children remained in the area. Son John, husband of Elizabeth Ginter, moved to the northwest, to Columbia County, while son Philip seems to have migrated to Schoharie County, NY.

Will of Jost Dreisbach, made 1 April 1791, translated by Ardis Grosjean Dreisbach, with paragraph divisions inserted for easier reading:

"In the name of God, Amen. I, Jost Dreisbach, in Lehigh Twp., Northampton Co., state of PA, the first of April one thousand seven hundred ninety-one, since I do not know when it will be the holy will of the almighty God to take my soul, as I believe, to Himself in heaven, therefore I shall make here my last will and testament, and my son Johannes, my son Adam (having been) designated administrator and executor. They are to(illegible).....after my death and a Christian burial, above all(illegible).....demand payment of debts owed me and pay debts which(illegible).....to bring, as circumstances permit at that time.

Secondly, it is my will that my lawful surviving widow Liesbet shall have full right and power to keep for her use the land, mill, sawmill as long as she lives, or it pleases her, and she bears my name, wherefore she shall have fifty pounds of good, hard money and a cow, six pewter plates, her bed, bed-frame, pots, her Mohican servants' provisions (food) and the cupboard which my son Jost gave her.

In addition my appointed administrator shall have everything appraised, including what I(illegible)..... have of money and property, which is in a book, written apart, and further what the movable goods consist of, to be divided in three equal parts, and to give my lawful surviving widow Liessbet a third part. From the remaining two-thirds part my son Johannes shall have five pounds taken out first. Thereafter (it is) to (be) divided in nine equal parts thus: to my son Johannes one part, to my son Jost one part, to my son Adam one part, to my son Philip one part, to my son Michael one part, to my daughter Appolonia one part, to my daughter Catarina one part, to my daughter Susanna one part, to my daughter Magdalena one part to be given.

Therefore it is my will that the above-mentioned, as far as their understanding and knowledge permit, shall execute everything in unanimity and peace so that almighty God may give his blessing upon it. I hereby commend all my surviving heirs and my soul to the protection of the almighty God of heaven and earth, Amen."

Adam Dreisbach 1722-1803

The Dreisbach Book p. 23:

Adam Dreisbach, born in Oberndorf and christened in the Feudinggen Church on 7 Nov. 1722, died on 10 January 1803. He married Susanna Coerber- Corber- Koerber- Kirber in Trinity Lutheran Church in Lancaster in July 1749. Her father, Andreas Coerber, was later buried in the cemetery at Jost Dreisbach's. Adam is said to have been a saddler. In 1771 he and his younger brother Simon Jr. were among the founding members of Zion Stone Church in Kreidersville. In 1772 Adam was listed as being a farmer in Lehigh township, Northampton County. Adam spent his last years in Easton, the County Seat, where he and his wife were buried. Their graves are no longer extant, the Easton Public Library having been built on the site of the cemetery.

Simon Dreisbach, Jr. 1730-1806

Simon Jr. headstone at Zion Stone Church

The Dreisbach Book p. 23:

Simon Dreisbach, Jr., born in Oberndorf and christened on 18 February 1730, died in Northampton County on 17 December 1806. Simon married Maria Dorothea Dies- Does- Toss- Taes in Philadelphia in April 1752. That same year, at age 22, he already appears on the tax list of Alsace Township, Berks Co. However, Simon soon moved to Northampton Co., settling in Allen Township, where he remained until his death. He was probably the most learned of Simon Sr.'s children, and was a member of several Provincial conventions, assemblies and commissions. In 1776 Simon Dreisbach Jr. was a signer of the Constitution of Pennsylvania. He was an elder of Zion Reformed congregation, and as such wrote a long letter in German in January 1773 explaining the situation of the small Reformed congregations in his area, and their need of a minister. This letter, and also the account he wrote of his children's births and his first wife's death, still exist. Most of Simon Jr.'s twelve children remain in Northampton County.

Biographical Sketches

Simon Dreisbach, Jr., was born in Obendorf, Wittgenstein, Feb. 18, 1730. He was a delegate from Northampton Co. to the Constitutional Convention in Philadelphia (July 15, 1776), which ratified the Declaration of Independence. For four successive years (1776-1780), he represented the Co. in the State Assembly and also several years as commissioner to collect blankets and provisions for the Continental soldiers, and from May 2, 1777, to Oct. 20, 1783, was a member of the Council of Censors. After the close of the war he again represented the country in several sessions of the State Assembly. He was married to Dorothea, a daughter of Peter Taes, in 1752.

This union was blessed with twelve children, of whom three sons, John, Jacob and George, served in the Revolutionary Army. His first wife died in 1773 and he was married a second time to Maria Kuder, a widow lady, the daughter of Conrad Fox. He died near Kreidersville, Dec. 17, 1806.

Rolin Dreisbach:

According to a letter he wrote to Rev. Johannes Heinrich Helffrich in 1772, he did not immediately go to Northampton, and according to the advertisement in Saur's newspaper in June 5, 1759 he was then living in Germantown, but offered for sale a 200 acre plantation near Jost Dreisbach's mill in Lehigh Twp..

At the time of the Revolutionary war he was living in Lehigh Twp., owned a farm and a mill. He was a member of the Provincial Convention, a member of the Assembly 1776 to 1780, a member of the Council of Censors, Oct. 20, 1782, and a member of the convention that framed the constitution of Penna. in 1790.

Simon was married twice and had 11 children. It appears that all the children were by his first marriage: Married in 1752 to Maria Dorothea Taes (or Dies) daughter of Peter Taes, she a widow, Anna Maria Kuder, she was a daughter of Conrad Fuchs.

George William Dreisbach 1733 - ?

The Dreisbach Book pp. 23-24:

Georg Wilhelm (George William) Dreisbach, born in Oberndorf and christened on 14 June 1733, was ten when he arrived in Philadelphia with his family. He married Sophia Schemelien- Schmielin- Schmidin?, who may have come from the Moravian family, Schmid. A son, Jost, is said to have been born in 1758. George's date and place of death are unknown, and it is not always certain whether later references to George Dreisbach refer to him or to his nephew of the same name, a son of Simon Jr., born 31 January 1756, who also married a woman named Sophia. This younger George certainly remained in Northampton County, and is buried at Zion Stone Church. In a 1773 valuation of real estate in Lehigh Township, Jost and George Dreisbach each had a grist mill, and George had a sawmill as well. A George Dreisbach was one of two men who contracted to do the carpenter work on the new Zion Church in November 1771. It is not known if George's sawmill furnished the lumber for the construction. A George (perhaps the nephew?) appears on a muster roll of 14 May 1778, 4th Battalion of the Northampton County Militia. Nothing is known of the later years of George and his family.

Since the publication of The Dreisbach Book, cousin and researcher Wayne Atteberry has compiled evidence indicating that George William may well be the grandfather of both Jost and Conrad Dreisbach of Monroe and Luzerne counties in Pennsylvania. These two individuals were outlined in Appendix F and Appendix H of The Dreisbach Book. In addition, Wayne has helped prove beyond doubt that Charles of Summit County, Ohio (Appendix K) was Jost's son. These three appendices have therefore been attached to the main tree under George William's line.

John Dreisbach 1735-1796

The Dreisbach Book p. 24:

Johannes (John) Dreisbach, born in Oberndorf and christened on 6 February 1735, died in Northampton County on 27 September 1796. He married Elizabeth Waldman. Of their eight children, two died young, five remained in eastern Pennsylvania and one moved with his family to Sparta, New York in 1806. Johannes appears as "John Dreasbaugh" on the 14 May 1778 muster roll of the Northampton County Militia. There is little else known about him. He and his wife are buried in the Zion Stone Church cemetery. It should be noted that Johannes has at times been called "John George" in certain Dreisbach genealogies. This has caused some confusion with his elder brother George. There is no documentary evidence, baptismal or otherwise for adding "George" to the name of Johannes Dreisbach. In 1995 his tombstone was unreadable and the Veterans Administration furnished a new, granite stone. However, the request was incorrectly made, and therefore the stone says John George instead of Johannes.

Johannes Dreisbach; Pvt 1st Co 3rd Btl'n 5th Class 1782; Christened February 6, 1735 Oberndorf, Wittgenstein, Germany; son of Johann Simon and Maria Cathrin (Keller) Dreisbach; married Elizabeth Waldman November 14, 1758 Tohickon Union Church, Bucks Co PA; died August 27, 1796 Lehigh Co PA; buried Zion Stone Church, Kreidersville, Northampton Co PA.

John Dreisbach and Elizabeth Waldman were sponsors for Elizabeth Ulrich, d/o Henry and Catharine, b. 29 Nov 1757, bp. 8 Feb 1758, Tohickon Reformed (p. 89)

John Dreisbach and Elizabeth Waldman were sponsors for John Marsch, s/p Valentine and Margaret, b. 30 Sep 1758, bp. 14 Nov 1758, Tohickon Reformed (p. 96)

Appendix O of The Dreisbach Book, containing the line of Alfred Dreisbach of Carbon County, has been attached to the Simon line through John, based on research since publication. Descendants of Alfred are warmly welcomed to this branch of the family.

Appendix C

Martin Dreisbach

Raumland 1717

Buffalo Valley,
Union County, Pennsylvania 1799

Martin Dreisbach 1717-1799

Martin Dreisbach, who was probably the youngest of the nine known children of Hans Georg and Anna Elisabeth, was born twenty-one years after his eldest sister. The Raumland church records show that Martin was born on May 23, 1717 and was baptized three days later. Martin's mother died when he was only a year and a half old. The family lived in a large half-timbered house called "Leye," next to the Eder River. During the nearly fifty years he spent in Pennsylvania, one of Martin's enduring memories was surely the sound of the swiftly flowing Eder as it ran between the house of his childhood and the steep hill which rises like a wall along the opposite bank.

By the time he was twenty-four, Martin was in the town of Krombach in the neighboring principality of Nassau-Siegen, and was engaged to be married. The wedding took place in Krombach in April, 1742. The bride, Anna Eva Hoffman, was twenty, and was the daughter of a schoolmaster [of Nassau-Siegen]. It is possible that one or two sons were born to Martin and Anna Eva before they emigrated to Pennsylvania, but this, as well as the exact date of emigration has yet to be documented.

"My grandparents emigrated to North America, A.D. 1746. They bought a farm in Lancaster Co., Penn., near the Blackhorse Tavern, in Cocalico Township, where he worked at his trade, blacksmithing, and also built a gristmill and a sawmill. But having lost, by sudden death, his oldest son, he not long after sold his farm and mills and bought a farm in Berks Co., Penn., on the Easton Road, three miles from Reading, and moved thither in A.D. 1763."

This was the nineteenth-century family tradition concerning the first years of Martin and Anna Eva Dreisbach in Pennsylvania, written down by their grandson, Rev. John Dreisbach (1789-1871). Rev. John, who never knew his grandmother, was ten when his grandfather Martin died. Thus this information, which was written down in later life, did not come to Rev. John first-hand. This account is the only one which proposes 1746 as the year of Martin and Anna Eva's arrival in North America, and it is now questioned by a number of family researchers.

The ten years or so that Martin spent in Berks County (ca. 1763-1773) gave him ample time to become fully established there. Moreover, it was during the family's stay near Reading that the two eldest children found mates. Nevertheless, when new opportunities came and military tracts along the frontier were opened for settlement, Martin once again moved on. In 1773 he took his family north to a recently opened area, purchasing land that had formerly been a military tract. It lay just west of the Susquehanna River in Buffalo Valley. His farm was about four miles upstream along Buffalo Creek, which empties into the Susquehanna at Lewisburg.

At the time of the move, Martin and Anna Eva's two eldest children were already married, and the others ranged between eighteen and nine. In 1775 Martin was recorded as possessing thirty cultivated acres, three horses and six cows. The family fled to Berks County for a time. After their return to the farm along Buffalo Creek, Martin was appointed in 1779 to divide Buffalo Valley, a sign that he was a respected citizen. It must have been in these years that Martin was a ranger on the frontier.

The Indian raids had hardly subsided when the Revolutionary War began. According to the D.A.R. Patriot Index, Martin and his two elder sons, Jacob and Henry, were enrolled in the revolutionary forces. From another source we learn that Jacob's time of service was from 1780 to 1782, and that Henry served in 1783. A third son is also said to have been in the War of Independence.

After the war the Lutheran and Reformed settlers of Buffalo Valley joined together to erect a log church for their joint use. Martin Dreisbach, who was an elder of the Reformed congregation, donated 7 acres as the site for the church and the cemetery. In 1788 the log structure, known as "The Dreisbach Church," was completed. It served two congregations as a union church until 1839, when a brick building replaced it. It has been twice rebuilt, in 1869 and 1964. After the Lutheran congregation left in 1963 to establish its own church, the name was changed to Dreisbach United Church of Christ.

In 1789, one year after the log church was built, Anna Eva died. She had known at least four different homes in four different areas, from Siegerland in Europe to Lancaster County, then to Berks County and finally the Buffalo Valley. She lived just long enough to see all her children married (the two youngest having married the previous year,) and died shortly before her 67th birthday. Martin outlived his wife by ten years, dying in the last year of the century at 81. Martin and Anna Eva are buried in the Dreisbach Church Cemetery, Lewisburg, Pennsylvania.

The Dreisbach Book
Appendix D

Johann Heinrich Dreisbach

Berghausen 1703

Berghausen 1757

Balde to Berghausen: early millers and a late 19th century emigrant

The town of Berghausen is situated in northern Wittgenstein, not far from Berleburg, the residence of the northern Counts. It lies only a few kilometers to the west of Raumland. Records show that in 1680 a certain Johann Wilhelm Dreisbach was living in house n. 16, called "Mechels." He remained in that house until 1691, probably the year of his death. Since nothing further is known about him, it cannot be established whether he was related to the Dreisbachs of Balde and Raumland.

In the same period, however, there was another Dreisbach, Hans (or Johann) Henrich Dreisbach, also living in Berghausen. The house he lived in is not known, but a son, Johann Henrich Dreisbach II, was born to him and his wife Susanna in Berghausen in 1674. Through the research of Gustav Schneider of Bad Laasphe it has been possible to connect this family with the Dreisbach family of Balde.

The Raumland church records show that the same family members appear as godparents for children born to both Johann Henrich Dreisbach of Berghausen and to Johannes Dreisbach of "Wahnersch" in Balde, and this pattern continues in the next generation as well. There are thus strong indications that Johann Henrich of Berghausen and Johannes of Balde were brothers, and that both were sons of carpenter Daniel Dreisbach. Johannes, who was doubtless the elder brother, remained in the "Wahnersch" house, while Johann Henrich went off to Berghausen, where he lived until his death in 1724.

Johann Henrich Dreisbach II, born in Berghausen in 1674, became known as "The New Miller." There was already an "Old Mill" in Berghausen, which had been functioning since 1659. Starting in about 1700, the records also speak of a "New Mill," and this was the mill which was operated by Johann Henrich II until his death in 1730. In 1702 he married Anna Margaretha Hesse in St. Martin's Church, Raumland. The New Mill remained in the Dreisbach family for several generations. It was continued by Johann Henrich III, who died in 1757, whereupon a son-in-law took over its operation.

Miller Johann Henrich Dreisbach III married Anna Gertrud Dorr in 1730. He died at age 54 in 1757, and the very next year his daughter Anna Elisabeth married one Johan Daniel Bräuer, who then became the next in line of "New Millers."

Johan Philipp Dreisbach, son of miller Johann Henrich III, was not a miller. He did, however, live his entire life in Berghausen. He married Elizabeth Katharina Strackbein in the Raumland Church in 1774, and died in Berghausen in 1804.

Christian Georg Dreisbach, son of Johan Philipp, was just fourteen when his father died. He left Berghausen as a young man and went to the more industrialized region of Wuppertal. Here, in Elberfeld in North Rhine Westphalia, he took a wife, Anna Sibilla Farber, in 1818.

Little is known of their son August Dreisbach, who was born in Elberfeld in 1827. He married Julie Monnich in Barmen in North Rhine-Westphalia. It is not known when or where they died.

Christian 'Oscar' August Dreisbach, son of August and great-great-grandson of miller Johann Henrich III, was born in Barmen in 1864. While still young, he came to the United States. The date of his arrival has not yet been found, but it must have been at least five years before his naturalization in 1898. He was certainly settled in New York City by May of 1896, the month when he married Louisa Knaus there. He is among the most recent of the Dreisbach arrivals in North America.

Old records also tell of other Dreisbachs who lived in Berghausen in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries. Between 1755 and 1817 there were two who lived, one after the other, in the same house (no. 13, called "Tambours.") Their names were Johan Jost and Georg Heinrich Dreisbach, and both are mentioned with the epithet "Tambour" or drummer. It is thought that they might have been part-time drummers for the Guard at nearby Castle Berleburg. Their possible relationship to the Dreisbach millers at the "New Mill" has not been ascertained. In about 1970 there was at least one Dreisbach still living in or near Berghausen.

"Bucks County" Henry Dreisbach

Europe before 1735

Bucks County, Pennsylvania 1808

Immigrant Heinrich Dreisbach, 1735-1808

The Heinrich Dreisbach who settled in Rockhill Township, Bucks County, has been thought to be the Henrich Dresbach who arrived in Philadelphia on 7 November 1754 on the "John and Elizabeth". As yet nothing has been discovered about Heinrich's place or date of birth. Not until a daughter, Elizabeth, was baptized in 1760 at the Indian Creek Reformed church, Telford, Montgomery Co., does Henry appear in the records. This would suggest that he was born about 1725-1735. In any event, he was surely younger than Simon and probably younger than Martin. Little more is known of Henry's first wife than her name, Anna Maria. Nor has it been learned whether the couple married in Europe or in Pennsylvania.

Heinrich was a farmer, and settled near Almont (formerly Schlichtersville) in Bucks County. His farm was situated near the Bucks/Montgomery county line. The christenings and confirmations of his children are well documented, and traces of Heinrich Dreisbach and his family are found in church records in both counties. Moreover, Henry's descendants have left multiple land records in southeastern Pennsylvania which extend well into the nineteenth century. This notwithstanding, of the three Dreisbach lines which are undoubtedly descended from pre-Revolutionary immigrants, the Henry Dreisbach line is the one of which we know least.

No European connection has as yet been found between this Henry and the Dreisbachs of Wittgenstein, including those who originated in Balde. The possibility that Henry came from Wittgenstein cannot, however, be discounted.

In 1782, on the earliest tax list of Rockhill Township, Bucks County, Henry appears as a farmer owning 94 acres. In 1791 Henry was taxed on 90 acres, elder son Jacob on 20, and younger son John on none. In 1798 a Direct Tax was imposed in Rockhill Township on Henry Driesbach's log barn, 30x22 ft. In 1800 and 1802 tax records show that Henry had 96 acres and son Jacob 112. Eventually Jacob took over Henry's farm.

Nothing is known about Henry's first wife, Anna Maria, who bore him six children. She died in 1785 and is buried in Row 11, Jerusalem Union Cemetery, Almont. On 18 April 1791, widower Henry married Susanna Maria Neiss, a widow, who outlived him by many years, dying in 1837. Henry Dreisbach died intestate on 8 January 1808. He is buried in Jerusalem Union Cemetery, Almont, Rockhill Township, Bucks County.

It is likely that a number of Dreisbachs of southeastern Pennsylvania are descended from Henry's two sons, Jacob and John. Among Henry's descendants we find the spellings of Dreisbach, Driesbach and probably also Treisbach. These names appear in records of Bucks and Montgomery County Reformed congregations into the twentieth century. Of particular interest are the Treisbachs of upper Montgomery County, who are assumed to be descended from immigrant Henry's younger son John, and who were originally included in Appendix I of The Dreisbach Book.

The Dreisbach Book
Appendix B

Jacob Dresback

Pennsylvania circa 1779

Logan County, Ohio 1857

Jacob Dresback 1779-1857

From The Dreisbach Book, 1998, p. 31, section 6d:

According to descendants, Jacob Dresback was born in Pennsylvania in 1779, and moved to Ohio at an unknown time in the early 1800's. He settled first in Fairfield County. Jacob and his wife, whose name is not known, had six children. In 1835 Jacob moved to Logan County with four of his children, where he died in 1857. Records of Logan County land transactions between Jacob and his sons William and Barnard Dresback are dated 1845 and 1851.

Descendants of Jacob Dresback are still living in Ohio. Jacob Dresback does not seem to be connected to the many Dresbach and Dreisbach descendants of Martin Dreisbach living in Ohio.

It is possible that he is the John Dreisbach (actually John Jacob Dreisbach) mentioned by Rev. John Dreisbach in his text, A Short History of Another Branch of Dreisbachs. This text contains a number of half-truths, calling Simon and Martin first cousins (they are now known to have been third cousins), and confusing the sons of Simon Sr. with those of Simon Jr. However, Rev. John makes clear mention of three brothers of the Simon line: Abraham, who settled in Ohio, and Yost and John who both lived on the North Branch of the Susquehanna River "above Berwick." John, the youngest of the three, was born like his brothers in Northampton County, and was baptized John Jacob at Zion Stone Church in 1779. The name and year agree, but it remains to be seen if John Jacob Dreisbach left the shores of the Susquehanna to settle in Ohio as Jacob Dresback.

Kreidersville, Northampton County,
Pennsylvania 1890

Henry Dreisbach 1800-1890

From The Dreisbach Book, 1998, p. 32, section 6c:

Henry Dreisbach lived his long life, from 1800 to 1890, in what might be called the heart of Northampton County's Dreisbach country, Kreidersville. Henry and his wife, Elizabeth Solt (1802-1881) were members of Zion Stone Church, Kreidersville, and are buried in its cemetery, as are a number of their children. Henry's grandson, Ammon, was the founder of the Dreisbach Family Association and organizer of the family reunions. Not only did Ammon have access to local Dreisbach traditions and lore, he lived part of his life with Henry on his farm. Nevertheless, information on Henry's forebears is so totally absent from publications concerning Dreisbachs that one suspects his origins were intentionally kept out of print.

Most of Henry's descendants remained in eastern Pennsylvania. Son Daniel, a shoemaker, went to Illinois in the 1850's to work in a shoe factory. He sent for his family, and while they were staying at a hotel, waiting for their house to be ready, Abraham Lincoln came to stay there too, while campaigning. During the Civil War Daniel joined the Illinois infantry and died of illness soon afterwards. At the end of the war his wife took her family back to Kreidersville, to Henry's farm.

Was there a conspiracy of silence? Two theories seem to imply this. It is almost certain that Henry was connected to the Simon Dreisbach line. One local historian proposes that Henry was the illegitimate son of a Henry Dreisbach who found it awkward to stay in the area, and who moved his family (but not little Henry) to Sparta, New York. Another local historian, a descendant of Simon, Jr, has intimated that there was a tradition in his family that Henry was the offspring (grandson?) of Jost Dreisbach and one of the female Mohawk slaves that Jost mentions in his will.

In any event, as a result of the initiatives begun early in this century by Henry's grandson Ammon, North American Dreisbachs were able to reconnect with Wittgenstein, and to receive valuable information in the 1920's from Wittgenstein Archivist Canstein.

Provided by Ardis Grosjean-Dreisbach, descendant of Henry:

There is no documented proof of Henry's parents, but it is safe to assume that he was related to the family of immigrant Simon Dreisbach Sr. Henry seems to have settled in Kreidersville by 1836 at the latest (the year when an infant, probably the 8th of their 12 children, was buried in Kreidersville cemetery). On Aschbach's map of Lehigh County (1862) there is a property in Kreidersville in the name of H. Dreisbach. This seems to be our Henry.

Henry was born on 17 Nov 1800 (place not known): died 14 March 1890, probably near Kreidersville. There is a slight discrepancy regarding his date of death. The Kreidersville church records, and Roberts, Stoudt, etc, say he died on 14 March, whereas Laura M. Helman says 10 March. 14 March is to be preferred.

Henry lived to be almost 90. It is not known where he lived after his wife and his daughter Rebecca died, but he may have stayed near Kreidersville, where he was buried.

Appendix M

George Tricebock

Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 1826

Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 1893

George Tricebock 1826-1893

From The Dreisbach Book, 1998, p. 32, section 6f:

George Tricebock was not an immigrant, but was born in Philadelphia on 3 August 1826. His parents have not been identified. He married Margaret Campbell, and the couple set up housekeeping in Philadelphia. They died in 1893 and 1907 respectively, and are buried in the Cedar Hill Cemetery in Philadelphia.

Two children are known, both born in Philadelphia: John B. Tricebock, born 3 December 1848, who later married Margaret Jane Johnson, and Sarah (Sallie) Tricebock, born 31 October 1850, who married Charles Burk. John B. and Margaret Jane Tricebock had ten children, of which three sons and five daughters are married. To date, only one descendant, great-granddaughter Jean Elva Earling, nee Coffren, is known.

The name Tricebock is obviously an anglicized form of Dreisbach. Such a spelling change can have taken place at any time in the early generations of the family.

In 1806, two Dreisbach families from Wittgenstein arrived in Philadelphia, headed by Georg Dreysbach and Georg Heinrich Dreysbach. They had a number of sons, any one of which might have been the father of this George, giving him the grandfather's name. There is no proof of connection, however, and further details on these families in the U.S. are lacking, although their lineage in Germany has been traced back to Abraham.

Appendix A

Heinrich Dreisbach

Germany 1844

Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 1904

Henry Dreisbach of Philadelphia

Heinrich Dreisbach, born in Germany in 1844, is another immigrant whose descendants are known, but whose date of arrival is not certain. He and his German-born wife Maria Casselman probably landed in Philadelphia, and seem to have remained there, though descendants moved to Lima, Ohio and elsewhere. Heinrich may possibly have been the "Henry Dresbach" who made his alien's declaration of allegiance in Philadelphia in 1868. There was a "Henry Dressby" living in Upper Delaware Ward of Philadelphia in 1840, who might have been this Henry's father, but of course that is pure speculation.

The Dreisbach Book
Appendix P

Simon Dreisbach

Born before 1775 in Pennsylvania

Died Schuylkill County after 1830

Ancestor of Oliver Dreisbach c1895

Schuylkill Dreisbachs

Appendix P of TDB listed an Oliver Dreisbach of Schuylkill County, Pennsylvania, a county that had not been extensively researched at the time of publication. Oliver turns out to be "the tip of the iceberg". Since that time, many family members (identified as well as unidentified) have come to light. The earliest Dreisbach known appeared in Schuylkill Co. in 1810. His name was Simon, and his parents are unknown (although it seems likely that he would come from the Simon line.)

Cousin Kim Keys has relentlessly pursued her branch of this line. There are several other branches, currently not connected to the outline you see here, that exist as well. Clearly, further research in this county will be necessary.

The Dreisbach Book
Appendix Q

Stephen Dreisigmayer

Burgenland, Austria-Hungary before 1900

Northampton, Pennsylvania after 1928

Stephen Dreisigmayer who changed his name to Dreisbach

From The Dreisbach Book, 1998, pp. 33-34, section 6i:

In the years around the turn of the century, many Europeans came to PA to work in the coal, steel and cement industries. A number of immigrants from Central and Eastern Europe came to the town of Northampton in Northampton Co., where the cement industry was flourishing. Thus it was that in the early years of the 20th century Stephen Dreisigmayer left Burgenland in Austria to come to the United States. He married Anna C. Oswald and settled in Northampton. Eight children, seven sons and a daughter, were born to them in Northampton between 1913 and 1928. In about 1922 Stephen Dreisigmayer was naturalized, at which time he changed his name and the names of his children to Dreisbach, a name already familiar in an area that was still home to some of the descendants of earlier immigrant Simon Dreisbach.

Stephen Dreisbach's seven sons and fifteen grandsons and their families have considerably augmented the number of Dreisbachs in eastern PA. This sudden increase in persons bearing the Dreisbach name went unexplained for a number of years. In early 1995, a preliminary mailing went out to a number of persons bearing the Dreisbach name, including this family, informing them of the reunion planned for September 1995. As a result, the reunion planners received the surprising news that there were a number of new Dreisbachs living in Eastern PA and elsewhere. The Dreisbachs who received their name at birth welcome the Dreisbachs who have taken the name by choice.

The Dreisbach Book
Supplement A

John Dreisbach

Pennsylvania 1790

Newport township, Luzerne County 1843

John Dreisbach 1790-1843 of Luzerne County

After the publication of The Dreisbach Book, we were contacted by Kathy Gavin, who is a descendant of this line. She had done extensive research on her branch of the family and is responsible for much of what we know of this mysterious John.

It's probable that he is from Simon's line, based on his burial in Luzerne County, but at this time we do not have a connection to parents. He was not an immigrant.

Evidently John's widow and children moved to Indiana after his death, where they established a thriving family group. Many are buried in the Palestine Cemetery in Kosciusko County.

John Dreisbach 1790-1843

Buried in the Newport Cemetery, Luzerne Co, PA, is a very mysterious John Dreisbach whom we've been unable to link to any family so far (along with a Wilhelm who is probably related to him in some way.) His descendants settled in Kosciusko Co, Indiana. Perhaps his family moved there after his death in 1843.

Simon Driesback

Born in New York State 1797

Onondaga County, New York 1880

Simon Dreisbach of Onondaga County, New York

Martin descendant Ann Wohlhueter first discovered this mysterious branch of the family when researching Michigan census records. She found two Driesback girls living in Michigan whom she couldn't fit into any of the existing families known at the time. Tracing these two girls back eventually led to the discovery of an unknown Simon, born in Pennsylvania and buried in Cicero Center Cemetery with several family members.

Little further is known of this branch, except it's tempting to assume (based on the name, of course) that this Simon descends from Simon Sr. He was in New York by 1822, for he married a local girl in Montgomery County New York. Several children were born in Montgomery County. Simon and his wife eventually settled in Onondaga County, where several more children were born and where their children were raised.

Georg Dreisbach

Descendant of Abraham

Raumland 1765

Immigrated 1806 on "Atlantic" to Philadelphia

Died after 1806, probably in Pennsylvania

Georg Dreisbach, 1806 Immigrant

At the time of the publication of The Dreisbach Book in 1998, we were aware of two families of immigrants that both arrived on the "Atlantic" on 8 November 1806, to Philadelphia from Wittgenstein:

1. Georg Dreysbach, age 40, with Margaretha, age 32, Georg, 20, Catharina, 18, Anna Maria, 15, Marie Elisabeth, 13, Johann Heinrich, 11, Elisabeth Gertraud, 8, Anton, 6, Margaretha, 3, Georg Heinrich, 1 year old.
2. Georg Heinrich Dreysbach, 24, with Marie Magdalena, 23, Johannes Georg, 1.

Since that time, with the help of our German cousin Andreas Sassmanshausen, we have learned how these two immigrants descended from Abraham, adding two entirely new branches of his descendants here in the U.S. Georg and Georg Heinrich, at first presumed to be closely related, have turned out in fact to be fourth cousins to each other. Unfortunately, not much is known of either of these lines once they reached our shores, and further research is needed.

Joseph Dreisbach of Pittsburgh

We are honored that Homecoming III will welcome descendants of this newly-discovered immigrant. At this time we do not have further information about how Joseph might be connected to our family in Germany. For now, we're just delighted to have found some new cousins. In the future, we may well find additional information connecting this branch to the others.

Hi Carrie,

I am Dana's sister. I am the designated "genealogist", and I use the term loosely, in the family.

My parents (Joseph John Dreisbach and Clara Dreisbach) as well as my sister, Dana, and I are all very interested in your email. I have listed below the information that we know. We would certainly like any help or info you can give to us.

My grandfather - Joseph Clement Dreisbach - only child
My Great Grandfather - Joseph Dreisbach.

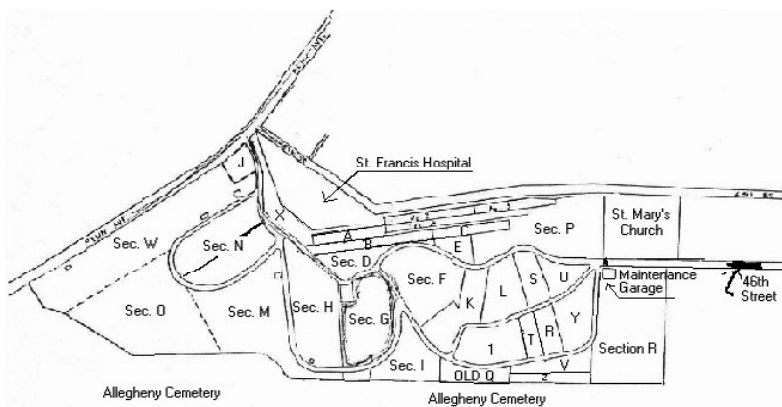

>From the last will and testament of my Great Grandfather we know this:

Wife: Mary Dreisbach -
both Mary and Joseph are buried at St. Mary's cemetery, Pittsburgh, PA

Joseph died in 1912 (March or April) Mary died before him (perhaps 2 years)

We believe Joseph and Mary were the immigrants. Both died at a fairly young age, my grandfather was about 6 or 8 when his parents died. My grandfather, Joseph Clement Dreisbach died on December 12, 1985.

Joseph (great grand father) left both money and real estate in Overath, Germany to his family there. His family members are: brother John Dreisbach and sisters Walburga Dreisbach, Maria Dreisbach and Gertrude Dreisbach.

St. Mary's Cemetery, Lawrenceville

He also left money to the following churches:
St. Augustine's Roman Catholic Church, Pittsburgh, PA
St. Joseph's German Catholic Church, North Oakland, PA
St. Joseph's English Catholic Church, North Oakland, PA and
St. Walburga's Roman Catholic Church, Overath Germany.

We look forward to hearing from you to see if we fit into this family somewhere either in the US or perhaps back in Germany.

Thanks!!!
Jill D. Keisling

William and Phillip Dresbach

Germany, circa 1824 and 1826

Arenzville, Cass County, Illinois

William and Phillip Dresbach of Cass County, Illinois

Little is known of two Dresbachs who settled in Arenzville, a town in Cass County Illinois founded by German immigrant Francis Arenz. It is possible that these Dresbachs (whom we assume to be brothers) were among the founders of his town, for Phillip painted portraits of Francis and his wife in 1854. Their place of origin is repeatedly listed as "Prussia" in census records, so it is likely that they were immigrants. Their families are buried in Arenzville.

Francis Arenz painted by "P. Dresbach" a German artist

Louisa Arenz painted by "P. Dresbach" a German artist

Dated 1854. Painted by P. Dresbach, a German artist.

Francis Arenz:

Born October 31, 1800, in Germany.

Came to America in 1827.

Arenzville was named for him in 1852.

He died April 3, 1856, in Arenzville, Illinois.

Francis Arenz's active participation in the pioneer life of Arenzville covered a period of 20 years, from 1833 when he bought the grist mill on Indian Creek, to 1853 when he sold the mill and Arenzville was organized as a village. The village had been laid out by Arenz in 1849.

Dreisbachs of Kentucky

Several families that appear in Louisville, Kentucky, that may or may not be related to each other

The following descendancy chart differs from the others in this book because it is a compilation of unconnected Dreisbachs in the Louisville, Kentucky area. Although they are probably related to each other, this relationship has yet to be determined. Obviously all those listed as second generation cannot be siblings, and some are probably children of the earliest immigrants.

I have listed these fragments together so that anyone interested in helping us solve this puzzle can see them in a group.

George Dreisbach of Carbon County

Switzerland, c1810
Immigrant to Pennsylvania

Carbon County, Pennsylvania aft. 1880

George Dreisbach c1810 Switzerland aft 1880 Carbon County Pennsylvania

Little is known of the George Dreisbach who appears in the records of Carbon County. It's possible that he is the same George who married a Louisa Kessler at the First Reformed Church of Philadelphia in 11 August 1830, but that has not been proven. George and his wife Lucy appear in the 1880 Census of Mahoning Township along with their sons Joseph and Moses. Evidently George and Lucy had one other child who died prior to 1880. George is listed as having been born in Bern, Switzerland, although this place of origin seems puzzling. All known Dreisbach immigrants have originated in Germany, although of course George's family could have migrated from Germany to Switzerland. More research is needed on this line.
